

10 JULY 2007

23rd UIA CONGRESS TURIN 2008

CALL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

From 29 June until 3 July 2008, the architects of the world will meet in Turin, Italy, for the 23rd World Congress of the International Union of Architects.

This global-scale event will focus on Transmitting Architecture, its participants will discuss architecture as a channel of communication and the communication of architecture itself, in all forms and all places. The congress will study all the various aspects of a profession that is concerned with the quality of life, landscapes, and the environment on a daily basis.

TRANSMITTING ARCHITECTURE: CULTURE, DEMOCRACY, HOPE

Three days of working sessions will be devoted to specific interpretations of the three aspects of the concept of Transmitting Architecture:

- 30th June: the past, culture

Architectural culture, talent, history, heritage, education

- 1st July: the present, democracy

Urban democracy, participation, mediation, decision

- 2nd July: the future, hope

Sustainable development, environmental protection.

The programme offers a full spectrum of conferences within this framework. They will be conducted by architects and international experts in a variety of fields that will launch a multidisciplinary debate. A wide selection of contributions from around the world will complement and illustrate these interventions.

UNTIL 19 OCTOBER, TRANSMIT YOUR CONTRIBUTION

The organisers of the 2008 Turin Congress invite all the world's architects to submit contributions according to the orientations mentioned above: culture, democracy, and hope.

All submissions must be made electronically, through the congress website. The deadline for submitting contributions is 19 October 2007.

UIA Turin 2008 website

<http://www.uia2008torino.org/>

Download the call for contributions

http://www.uia2008torino.org/cfp/CFP_invitation_eng.pdf

Information, contact

info@uia2008torino.org

To learn more about UIA congresses

<http://www.uia-architectes.org/texte/france/Menu-6/1-congres.html>