
RIBA Goldfinger Scholarship 2009: Description

History and Purpose of the Goldfinger Scholarship

In 1999 the estate of the late architect Ernő Goldfinger generously endowed a sum of money for scholarships to support young Hungarian architects through a period of postgraduate study (in the fields of Architecture, Art or associated disciplines) or work experience within an UK academic institution or architectural practice.

It is hoped that the student or young architect in receipt of the RIBA Goldfinger Scholarship will benefit from the unique support of the Royal Institute of British Architects and gain the knowledge and skills to make them leaders in the field of architectural education or practice.

Terms of the Scholarship

The Scholarship allows for a 12-month grant of up to £13,300 (including fees) to be awarded to a postgraduate student or up to £13,300 to be awarded to an architect at increments dictated by the full terms and conditions of the Trust (see Terms + Conditions document).

Only candidates with offers on either an academic course within an RIBA validated institution or a work placement within a registered UK architectural practice will be considered by the panel. The panel consisting of members of the RIBA will look for evidence of clear academic ability and technical skill when making their selection, as well as a grasp of the English language. They will be interested to know how the student intends to benefit from the experience within the UK and how they might make positive use of these benefits in their communities back home.

Postgraduate study is defined as at least a one-year higher level course undertaken by a student who has successfully completed Part 2 (five years or equivalent) degree level study within one of the Hungarian institutions recognised by the terms of the Trust. Preference will be given to students wishing to study for a Masters but consideration will also be given to other candidates.

Training and work experience placements are defined as meaningful architectural employment in a registered UK architectural practice. Work experience will be equivalent to that expected of a student registered with the RIBA Stage 1 Professional Experience Scheme for a period of no less than five months.

Selection Process

All completed applications must be received by Thursday, 11 June 2009. Notwithstanding time required for interviews or requests for further information from the candidates, the selection panel will notify their final choice of first preferred applicant(s) by Thursday, 31 July 2009.
