360 senses revives the ruins of Massenburg through integration into the surrounding context of Leoben; it's people, culture, landscape and urban fabric. Key to bleeding into its surroundings, the structure presents an assortment of integrated exhibitions touch, taste, smell. Rising up from the ruins, a contemporary interpretation of its once former glory, a watchful eye towering over the city below.

Coreten Steel and Stone draws a line between old and new; heritage contrasting with modern industry. Thus creating an iconic statement for the town.
